

Company

Ronconi SpA is a production company based in Italy with more than 70 years in the production of cold drawn precision seamless tubes.

Mission of the Company is the Customer Satisfaction, supplying a service together with a product. Strong commitment of the Company is in the development of a relationship with Clients to be compliant with any international norms or specification for Custom-made products with stability and production series.

Scope of the Company is to develop with Clients a long term relationship with stability, series plan in compliance to the different Client Specifications.

Ronconi SpA has an high variety of production facilities that allows an extreme flexibility in the production. The Company is also provided with the most modern Systems for the process and product controlling requested to respect Clients specifications.

The selection of major west European steel mill for the raw material source and the Company know-how allow to satisfy any requirement of any Client profile, from the Engineering Company to the Plant & Machine Manufacturers up to the End Users.

Ronconi SpA operates in order to satisfy the requirements set by ISO9001 and PED. Ronconi SpA supplies tubes all over the world with a wide dimensional range for a variety of industrial sectors, offering from Carbon Steel grades, Medium and High Alloy Steel grades up to the stainless steel. For Energy applications, main sectors are Heat Exchangers, Boiler and Pressure Equipments, Petrochemical plants and general plant construction in general.

For Mechanical applications, main sectors are Automotive (cars and motorcycle), Pistons, Cylinders, oleo dynamic applications and general mechanicals.